CHARTER OAK STATE COLLEGE NEWSLETTER

FEBRUARY 2010 VOL. XXXIV NO.1

Shown (l-r) are the Charter Oak brain trust instrumental in the development of the 'Ambassador's Club' concept – Jason Jakubowski, Director of Alumni Development; Lori Gagne Pendleton, Director of Admissions; and the College's President, Ed Klonoski.

Charter Oak Launches 'Alumni Ambassador's Club'

As is the case with many public institutions of higher education, Connecticut-based Charter Oak State College has limited resources with which to effectively recruit out-of-state students. In an effort to hurdle this budgetary obstacle, the College has created an "Alumni Ambassador's Club." The purpose of the newly-formed Club is to recruit Charter Oak alumni across the country to spread the word about the College – to communicate the tremendous opportunity we offer adult learners.

We seek your help. Members of the Ambassador's Club would typically augment and/or represent Charter Oak staff at College-sponsored recruiting events scheduled in cities and towns in which Club members reside. Charter Oak Admissions staff would alert Ambassadors in advance of events occurring in their local areas and would provide marketing materials for distribution at such events. The key to your participation in this significant undertaking would be your willingness to share your personal Charter Oak success story with prospective students in attendance.

THE PRESIDENT'S TAKE

Welcome to 2010. The past year has been a real challenge for many of our students and our alums. Let me begin this message by wishing you all a much better new year.

For Charter Oak, the weak economy has been increasing both the number of students entering the College and the number of students applying for and accepting financial aid. At this point in the academic year, the College has already surpassed the total number of students who received financial aid in Fiscal Year 2009; and the numbers continue to grow. So we are growing, but it is pretty clear that our growth is being driven by economic disruption and the need for adults to improve their workforce credentials. The good news is that helping adults attain degrees is exactly what Charter Oak was created to do. So with every graduate, with every course enrollment, with every certificate we issue, we are helping families cope with the economic turmoil.

You can help us serve our most financially challenged students. The Annual Appeal Campaign for the Charter Oak State College Foundation is in full swing. The Foundation is providing $30,000 in grants, this academic year, to Charter Oak students in need. This generosity is made possible by the support we receive from Alums and Friends of the College. We hope you are one of them. You can donate by visiting <http://coscf.org/annual>.

One of the new developments at the College is our tuition fee waiver for Connecticut's military veterans. Charter Oak State College has not been named under the Connecticut State Statutes requiring public institutions to provide tuition waivers for Connecticut veterans because the College does not have "tuition." Instead, it has fees. However, the staff and Board of Trustees agree it is important that the College does its fair share to support our veterans. So, in November, the Board approved a tuition waiver policy, following one instituted at the Connecticut State University System. Our new policy allows a 50% course fee waiver for Connecticut veterans who matriculate at Charter Oak. We are also reviewing our fee structure for active members of the military in order to align it more closely with those of other military-serving institutions.

In another area, the marketing staff is tracking how the College's media efforts performed in enticing potential students to the College. These tracking reports enabled staff to make better-informed decisions regarding our spring, 2010 marketing efforts.

For example, staff found that of six radio stations used last fall, three performed well while three underperformed in terms of luring students to the College's website. That tracking information allowed us to improve the efficiency of our radio buy for the College's spring enrollment campaign.

In addition, research has shown that although the median age of Charter Oak students remains at 40, one of the College's fastest growing demographic segments is in the 25-and-under age group. So it won't surprise you that we are advancing the College's efforts in the area of social networking. Our staff is blogging on Facebook and Linked In, and the College has observed that more and more alumni are using the social networking blogs. Check us out on these sites, and let us know what you think.

As always, feel free to send your thoughts directly to me at eklonoski@charteroak.edu, or leave a message at 860-832-3876.

Ed Klonoski
President

"...with every graduate, with every course enrollment, with every certificate we issue, we are helping families cope with the economic turmoil."

Other Ambassador responsibilities may include:

- Communicating with prospective students via a Charter Oak email account
- Connecting prospective Charter Oak students with current students by hosting "get to know you" receptions in your area

- Participating in Charter Oak webinar events facilitated by the College's Admissions staff

We thank Dale Bishop '04, Tim Hairston '08 and Chris Potter '09 for their recent commitments to membership in the Ambassador's Club and eagerly look forward to welcoming you as a member. You can join by simply e-mailing Jason Jakubowski, Charter Oak's Director of Alumni Development, at jjakubowski@charteroak.edu. 🌱

Greetings From Your Alumni Association

Happy New Year!

As we welcome 2010, we do so knowing this is a very exciting time for both Charter Oak and our Alumni Association.

During the course of the past year, we teamed with both the College and Student Association to offer enrichment seminars in resume writing and career advancement. We also developed a new partnership with Liberty Mutual to offer discounted insurance rates to our alumni, and we revised the Alumni Association's by-laws to streamline the Association's functions and help create a robust community of alumni.

Looking ahead to the future, your Alumni Association will soon roll-out its first-ever membership drive. Charter Oak graduates who wish to join the Association will be able to do so online. We'll soon update you on progress in this area via e-mail (see additional details on pg 11). By the way, if you've recently changed your e-mail, postal address or phone number, please let us know so we can keep you abreast of alumni activities and initiatives. You can send your contact change information to the Association's advisor, Jason Jakubowski – jjakubowski@charteroak.edu.

As always, it is a pleasure to serve our many alums. If you'd like to become more involved with the Association, please let Jason know of your interest. We do hope to hear from you!

Our Facebook page is the best place to connect with Charter Oak alumni, faculty and staff and to source the latest information about your alma mater. You can visit the College's Facebook page by going to <http://facebook.com/CharterOak>, and you don't need an account to do it. If you're already a Facebook member or want to become one (it's free!), go to the site and become a "Fan" of the College to show your pride as an alum and to automatically receive information about Charter Oak happenings

Our Twitter feed (found at <http://twitter.com/CharterOak>) is a great way to discover all the places on the Web that are talking about Charter Oak – from news articles, to events, to discussions about the growing popularity of online learning. The College's Twitter feed congregates all Charter Oak information in one place. As is the case with Facebook, you don't need a Twitter account to access the site.

LinkedIn, known as the professional social network, is a place for you to network or reconnect with business associates and colleagues. Charter Oak has created an 'Official Alumni Group' (<http://CharterOak.edu/LinkedInAlums>) where you can participate in discussions on a wide variety of topics. LinkedIn is a valuable resource that allows you to share your professional experiences and discuss career-related challenges with your peers.

So, if you haven't already, check out Charter Oak's presence on these social networking sites. 🌱

for alumni and friends of Charter Oak State College.

STATE COLLEGE

Chuck Albert, Editor

State of Connecticut
M. Jodi Rell, Governor

Board for State Academic Awards
Ed Klonoski, Executive Director

Ruth Garby Torres

Meet the 20-year Connecticut State Police veteran – and Charter Oak alum – who serves as a key member of the special unit responsible for providing personal security for Connecticut's governor and the chief executive's immediate family.

Meet the highly respected law enforcement officer, Native American and aspiring public administrator who plans, following retirement from state service, to use her Charter Oak bachelor's degree in Political Science and an ultimately-to-be-earned master's degree in Public Administration to work in the field of Tribal Governance.

Meet the innovative, dedicated and delightful lady who unhesitatingly expresses appreciation for the educational opportunities made available to her as a result of online study. "Taking classes online leaves so much within your control," says Ruth. "Each time I experienced a shift change in my job as a state police officer, I was able to easily adjust my study schedule, because I could go to my computer at my convenience. The ability to take courses online really expedited my path to a degree."

Ruth serves as a member of the Advisory Board for the Native American Cultural Center at Yale University. The Center helps gifted Native American students and faculty at Yale make a home away from home.

Her thoughts about 'giving back' to her alma mater? "Charter Oak grads are an unusual breed in that most of us were working adults who looked to the College to deliver a degree that would contribute to advancing our careers. I think the least we can do in return is to get out there and 'talk up' the College, volunteer to work on Alumni Association projects and support Charter Oak financially to the extent of which we're able."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: If you are interested in sharing your success story with us, please contact Jason Jakubowski, Charter Oak's Director of Corporate, Community and Alumni Development, and let him know. He can be reached via e-mail: jjakubowski@charteroak.edu or by telephone: 860-832-3902). 🌱

New Grants Assist Growth of WIT Program

The Charter Oak State College Women In Transition (WIT) program that provides opportunity for single mothers in low-paying jobs to complete their college degrees online, has received new funding from numerous supportive organizations.

Generous commitments have recently come from Hartford Foundation for Public Giving, The Linford and Mildred White Charitable Fund for which Bank of America is Trustee, The Daphne Seybolt Culpeper Memorial Foundation, Inc., Bristol, Connecticut-based Women's and Girls' Fund of the Main Street Community Foundation and Hartford, Connecticut's Smith Whiley Corporation.

Interestingly, a graduate of the WIT program has 'given back' to the College. Rachel Leipold, who earned her Charter Oak degree in 2008, sits on the board of The Leipold Foundation which was established by her late grandfather. The foundation recently awarded two grants, totaling $13,000 to WIT. The dollars will support three New Haven, Connecticut area students who participate in the program. Rachel is currently pursuing her master's degree in Human Services at Post University.

Thirty-nine women currently participate in the WIT program. Since its inception in 1999, WIT has accepted more than 150 individuals, most of whom have earned Charter Oak associate and/or bachelor's degrees. Many of those graduates have gone on to master's programs at colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Organizations and individuals interested in providing funding for the WIT and Charter Oak State College Foundation scholarship programs should contact Marlene Woodman in the College President's office. She can be reached by e-mail at mwoodman@charteroak.edu or by telephone at 860-832-3876. 🌱

Charter Oak 'Online Shop' Debuts

The new Charter Oak Online Store inventories such items as logo-bearing T-shirts, fleece zip jackets, golf shirts and computer portfolios. Modeling some of the Shop's attractive items are Charter Oak staff members (l-r) Cliff Williams, Chief Financial and Administrative Officer; Orchid Deer Dalomba, Admissions Counselor; Dan Russell, Internet Marketing; and Lila Guillet, Business Services.

The Charter Oak 'Online Shop' project has been launched, and the College's cyber store is now accessible at shop.charteroak.edu.

Thanks to the hard work of Carolyn Hebert, Charter Oak's Director of Marketing and Public Relations, the College has responded to the overwhelming demand for logo-ized merchandise and apparel with an expansive selection of products. The new and thriving Online Shop offers such items as men's and ladies' hooded and non-hooded sweat shirts, twill shirts for both men and women, ladies' long-sleeve fleece jackets and fleece vests, men's and women's micro-fiber and soft-shell jackets, scarfs, golf shirts, outerwear, hats, blankets, bags, mugs, coasters and window decals.

"It's been a while in the making," Hebert observed, "but we're there! So many of our alumni and friends have been clamoring for these products, and now we're able to respond. Happily, product has been flying off the shelves!"

All Online Shop items feature the Charter Oak logo or name, and clothing items are available in a variety of sizes and appealing colors. Online orders will be processed and shipped directly from the warehouse. The college plans to expand the merchandise selection at intervals throughout the year.

Check out the exciting product line soon at shop.charteroak.edu. We think you'll be delighted with what you see! 🌱

Leave A Legacy

As Charter Oak State College strives to sustain its leadership role in adult higher education, we look to our alumni and friends to lend a helpful and caring hand. By making a charitable, tax deductible bequest to the Charter Oak State College Foundation, you will help provide the resources required to preserve the future of the College and assist us in fulfilling our mission and commitment to our students. Your generosity is also a way of expressing your appreciation to the institution that positively impacted your life and career. Gifts of any size are important, and we hope that, in your own way, you will leave a legacy. Please contact the Foundation through the office of Charter Oak President, Ed Klonoski, 860-832-3876 to discuss your bequest.

Mohegan Sun Casino Is Newest Charter Oak Corporate Learning Partner

The Mohegan Sun Casino, Uncasville, Connecticut, has joined the expanding list of organizations that participate in Charter Oak State College's recently-launched Corporate Partnership Program. The program has been developed to provide businesses a seamless approach to supporting the educational needs of their employees.

In announcing the new partnership, Charter Oak President, Ed Klonoski, said, "We are pleased that Mohegan Sun has chosen us to play a primary role in the educational advancement of its workforce. As an online college, we are particularly well-suited to quickly respond to the needs of our new partner and its employee population." Mohegan Sun employs some 9800 workers.

Klonoski further observed that organizations, today, are fully aware that remaining competitive in the 21st century is a major challenge – that they must employ and retain the best and brightest personnel. "Charter Oak is here to assist Mohegan Sun in achieving that goal," he said. The College will deliver online educational courses to the casino's employees and will offer support in the form of dedicated academic advising, a Charter Oak hallmark.

Commenting on the newly-formed partnership, Mohegan Sun's Training and OD Manager, Dr. Tina Grove, said her organization is participating in the program "in an effort to promote lifelong learning among our employees, and we look forward to a successful educational relationship with Charter Oak State College."

Other organizations participating in the Corporate Partnership program include Connecticut-based Aetna, Webster Bank, Liberty Bank and Hartford Hospital.

Businesses interested in exploring a Charter Oak learning partnership should contact Jason Jakubowski at 860-832-3902 or via e-mail: jjakubowski@charteroak.edu. 🌿

Charter Oak Registrar To Retire –

Pat Derech Closes Out Distinguished Career

March 1 will mark the completion of an illustrious 28-year career at Charter Oak for the College's longtime Registrar, Pat Derech. Pat joined the Charter Oak staff in 1982 and was named Registrar in 1989. 'Totally dedicated' and 'meticulous' are the terms that perhaps best describe her approach to serving the needs of the thousands of students who have passed through the Charter Oak portals during the nearly three decades she has served the College.

Pat has been primarily responsible for managing the student academic records function that includes all planning, coordination and supervision of the Records Office which, any college registrar would no doubt agree, provides a major career challenge.

But Pat, who has approached her job with great calm and patience, has won and sustained the respect of her administrative colleagues and the appreciative students with whom she has dealt over the years.

We, at Charter Oak, congratulate Pat on her achievements in the academic world and wish her happiness and contentment in her retirement. 🌿

Charter Oak Offers New Connecticut Veterans Benefit

On January 1, Charter Oak began offering a 50% course fee waiver for Connecticut veterans who enroll in the College. In unveiling the new initiative, President Ed Klonoski said, "It gives me great pleasure to announce this benefit that pays tribute to veterans in Connecticut and assists them in completing their bachelor's degree."

Charter Oak has been rated by both Military Advanced Education

Magazine and G.I. Jobs Magazine as one of America's 'Top Military-Friendly Colleges.' The College accepts transfer credits from a variety of sources including military training and occupations. It additionally offers low in-state tuition to the spouses of active-duty military members and activated members of National Guard and Reserve components.

Linda Schwartz, Commissioner of Connecticut's Department of Veterans' Affairs, noted that the fee waiver is especially attractive for veterans who do not have the time for classroom courses and want to maximize their benefits under the Post GI Bill. "Charter Oak State College has a wonderful reputation for quality courses and flexibility in time commitments which fits into the fast-paced lives of veterans looking for advancement and opportunity," she said. She also observed that "the reduction of course fees in combination with existing benefits earned by veterans illustrates this College's commitment to honoring the service of our men and women in uniform."

Charter Oak maintains learning partnerships with the Coast Guard Institute and National Guard Bureau and the U.S. Navy's College Program Distance Learning Partnership. 🌱

College Launches Spring Marketing Campaign

A variety of media was employed in a December-January marketing campaign carefully designed to generate new spring enrollments for the College. Charter Oak's Marketing Department incorporated radio commercials, highly visible newspaper front page Post-It Note advertising, paycheck inserts, television station Web sites, Internet advertising on Google, Facebook and Yahoo! and e-mail communications to target working adults seeking to complete their degrees online.

Radio schedules, limited to exposure in the Connecticut area in previous campaigns, were expanded to run in Massachusetts markets as well, while Web advertising reached a worldwide audience. Past Charter Oak graduates have come from all 50 states and eight foreign nations.

A newly-developed "Freedom to..." advertising theme was carried through all media messages calling attention to the "freedom" and study flexibility that Charter Oak's online programs provide busy adult students. "...the freedom to: choose from 5, 8 and 15-week courses; the freedom to accomplish more in a shorter period of time; the freedom to interact with other students, nationwide without leaving home..." were among the "freedom" positives communicated to prospective students during the campaign.

"We recognize that today's adults are busy raising families and pursuing professional careers," said Charter Oak President, Ed Klonoski, "and we want folks to know that the College provides a quality and affordable way to complete their degrees from the convenience of their own homes."

The "freedom" marketing theme will receive additional exposure as the College promotes its spring Term Two courses in early March. ✨

Alumni Association Board Institutes New Member Dues Structure

List of Membership Benefits Continues To Expand

At its January, 2010 meeting, the Board of Directors of your Alumni Association voted unanimously to introduce a new dues structure that would enable the Association to better serve its members. Membership currently provides a variety of important benefits to Charter Oak graduates, and it is the Board's intent to enhance that list of 'pluses' by searching out – on an ongoing basis – new areas that will prove beneficial to members.

The newly devised – and economical – dues program provides membership for only $15 annually. Alumni may opt for lifetime membership at a one-time cost of $150. In addition to providing access to money-saving benefits, membership in the Alumni Association carries with it the right to vote in annual elections that occur each May.

BECOMING A MEMBER

Achieving Association membership is fast and easy because you do it online. You can use a credit card or PayPal account to join. Simply go to www.charteroak.edu/alumni and complete the very brief membership application.

OUTSTANDING BENEFITS

Current benefits available through membership fall into such categories as Auto, Home and Life Insurance Coverage; Computers and Computer Accessories; and moving and packaging supplies.

- You'll realize generous discounts on Liberty Mutual home and auto insurance (see details in a Page 4 article appearing in this issue of Connections) and on the company's life insurance products.

- Save, too, on Dell computer purchases, both desktops and laptops, made through Charter Oak's Student/Alumni Education Program and on 16 different HP Smart Buy laptop models.

- If a move is in the offing, you'll save nicely on moving boxes and packaging supplies.
- If you haven't yet purchased your class ring, you'll find savings there, too, when you purchase through Jostens.

All of these Alumni Association-arranged discounts can be sourced through Web sites listed on Charter Oak's Alumni Web page – www.charteroak.edu/alumni. And there's more to come as your Association searches out new money-saving opportunities for you in the weeks and months ahead. So, go to the Alumni Web site at your earliest convenience, become an Association member and begin enjoying the benefits associated with your membership.

If you're interested in contributing some of your time and energy to work with the Association's Board and/or committees, please contact Jason Jakubowski. His e-mail address is jjakubowski@charteroak.edu. 🌿
