

Connecticut Director's Credential (CDC)

A Collaboration Among: Charter Oak State College, Connecticut Charts-A-Course,
Connecticut Department Of Social Services, Hartford Area Child Care Collaborative

Expanding leadership opportunities and competencies for directors of programs for children and youth

What is the Connecticut Director's Credential?

The Connecticut Director's Credential (CDC) was created through a unique collaboration among Charter Oak State College, Connecticut Charters-A-Course, the Connecticut Department of Social Services, and the Hartford Area Child Care Collaborative. The CDC is a voluntary system of credentialing, at three levels of proficiency, for professionals in early care and after school education. The CDC is issued through Charter Oak State College to applicants who have successfully met requirements necessary to obtain the credential at a specific level. The Credential acknowledges that, as a professional working in the early care or after school education field, you have obtained knowledge, experience, and competency in the Core Areas of Knowledge for Directors (as defined in a chapter authored by Gwen Morgan in Managing Quality in Young Children's Programs – The Leader's Role. New York: Teachers College Press, 2001).

The Connecticut Director's Credential has been approved by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) and meets the maximum points for relevant training and credentials for Program Administrators.

The Connecticut Director's Credential is approved by the Connecticut Board of Regents for Higher Education.

Core Areas of Knowledge for Directors

Early care and after school education directors should be able to:

- Plan and implement developmentally appropriate care and education programs for children and families.
- Develop and maintain an effective organization.
- Plan and implement effective administrative systems to carry out program goals, mission, and objectives.
- Effectively administer a program of personnel management and staff development.
- Foster positive community relations and influence childcare policy that affects the program.
- Develop and maintain the physical facility.
- Have the legal knowledge necessary for effective management.
- Apply financial management tools.

The core areas of knowledge for directors are incorporated into five competency areas. Applicants for the CDC are required to document their knowledge in these competency areas by presenting evidence of college credit through completion of relevant course work or passing standardized exams, or completion of a non-credit prior learning portfolio, or any combination of these methods. The competency areas are:

Competency 1: Administration and Supervision – comprehensive overview course covering core areas of knowledge in program administration. This is required at all levels of the CDC. A number of 2 year and 4 year accredited colleges, including Charter Oak State College offers this course in program administration and supervision. CT Charters-A-Course also offers this course in a 45 hour (one week) format in partnership with local community colleges in Connecticut.

Competency 2: Personnel management. Examples of course content in this area are: management and human behavior; personnel administration and staff development; human resource management.

Competency 3: Budget/fiscal management. Examples of course content in this area are: accounting; small business management; small business accounting; or non-profit accounting.

Competency 4: Leadership skills. Examples of course content in this area are: leadership practices; leading teams; team building; leadership and group process.

Competency 5: Community, school and family relations. Examples of course content in this area are: child, family, community and school relations; family school partnerships; any course on the child and the family which emphasizes the relationship between child, family, and the teacher/school. (An introductory course on the family is not acceptable).

CDC applicants should be in the Connecticut Charters-A-Course registry. Register on line at www.ccacregistry.org.

Pathways to Meeting the Education Requirements for the Connecticut Director's Credential

Education requirements for the CDC can be met through one or more of the following pathways:

- Approved credit-based course work offered by regionally accredited colleges or universities or institutions of higher education accredited by the Board of Governors of Higher Education.
- Portfolio review by Charter Oak State College.
- Approved standardized tests (e.g., CLEP, DANTES, Pathways Exams at Charter Oak State College).
- Non-collegiate programs approved for credit by Charter Oak State College.

For more information on the above, visit www.charteroak.edu/cdc:

- A list of some courses at local colleges that fulfill CDC requirements is available from Charter Oak State College on the Web at www.charteroak.edu/cdc.
- Information on testing schedules and how to arrange to take the test in your area is available from the Charter Oak Testing Office at 860-515-3822.
- Information on program administrator's courses available from Connecticut Charts-A-Course can be found at www.ctcharts.org.
- Information on portfolio review is available from Charter Oak State College on the Web at www.charteroak.edu/cdc.

Experience Requirements for the Connecticut Director's Credential

At each level of the Credential, applicants must document that they have the required amount of experience in supervision and administration of an early care or after school center (see definitions of different types of experience in footnotes on last page).

Experience requirements at each level are:

- Initial: one year of supervisory experience AND one year of supervised administrative experience.
- Standard: one year of supervisory experience, AND one year of supervised administrative experience, AND one additional year of administrative experience.
- Master: one year of supervisory experience AND one year of supervised administrative experience AND two additional years of administrative experience.

Experience may be documented with a letter from an individual such as a direct supervisor, board chair, education consultant, or accreditation facilitation project facilitator.

Costs Associated with the Connecticut Director's Credential

	Initial Level	Standard Level	Master Level
Application Fee	$75	$75	$75
Credentialing Fee	$107	$134	$161
Renewal Due / Fee	3 years / $80	3 years / $80	6 years / $107

Applications for the CDC are accepted year round: the Application Fee is valid for two years from the date of payment. During that period you are free to submit materials to complete your credentialing requirements whenever they become available. If you hold a current credential and apply for another level, you pay only the Credentialing Fee, not another application fee.
